Our Vision...

"To create energetic and inclusive communities with the arts at the heart."

A group of approximately ten young people, mostly Black, are performing on a stage. They are all wearing bright orange long-sleeved shirts. Many of them have their hands raised in the air, some with palms facing forward, suggesting a moment of praise or worship. They are standing in a line across the stage, with several microphones on stands in front of them. The background is dark, with blue stage lighting and vertical light bars. The overall atmosphere is energetic and joyful.

Bringing people together
